ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Recognizing the challenges and opportunities that all fire jurisdictions are facing, the City of White Salmon and Klickitat County Fire Protection District #3, through a working partnership of many years, agreed in the summer of 2022, to explore the different governance and delivery options available for operating and funding emergency services [fire; rescue; emergency medical]. The discussion grew momentum and in July of 2022, both elected Boards unanimously agreed --through a documented instrument called “The Fire Action Plan” – to seek counsel from a Greater White Salmon Community Task Force on the future and wisdom of providing emergency services from a regional approach. The West Klickitat Task Force met for several months and published a Final Report with a number of key recommendations which included a unanimous recommendation to amalgamate the current, separate fire agencies [Klickitat County Fire District #3 and the White Salmon Volunteer Fire Department] into a Regional Fire Authority as provided by RCW 52.26.

On behalf of the City of White Salmon and Klickitat County Fire Protection District #3, and all, we want to thank everyone who participated in creating the future vision of our organization that will ultimately provide the citizens we serve and protect an enhanced opportunity to determine the level of service they desire.

Your efforts are recognized and very much appreciated.

WEST KLICKITAT REGIONAL FIRE AUTHORITY

VISION STATEMENT

West Klickitat Regional Fire Authority is a community partnership of the City of White Salmon and Klickitat County Fire Protection District #3, providing effective and sustainable Fire, Rescue and EMS services that maximize the resources entrusted to us to serve the needs of a changing community.

STRATEGIC OPPORTUNITY

To strategically position the City of White Salmon and Klickitat County Fire Protection District #3, in a regional partnership that provides the community with effective and sustainable Fire, Rescue and EMS services.

- Effective Fire and lifesaving EMS service is dependent on three components:
 - Fire/Hazard/Injury Prevention
 - Safe buildings reduce fire risk, life loss, and reduce the long-term cost of emergency response;
 - Fuel reductions and other defensive programs reduce the risk of runaway wildland fires;
 - Public Education
 - Perfect emergency response is not possible, the public must be empowered to reduce their own risk and provide time critical actions prior to arrival of firefighters.
 - Emergency Response
 - Perfect prevention does not exist, emergency responders must arrive prior to flashover in fire, and brain death in non-breathing patients.
- The three legs of the Fire Service delivery system: fire prevention, public education, and emergency response, can only be sustained with adequate funding.
 - Level of Service performance objectives provide the measure of adequate service.
 - Prevention, Education and Response resources must be balanced to meet the Level of Service objective and assure the most service;
 - Adequate funding of the fire service delivery system is evidenced by its ability to meet level of service performance objectives.

	SECTION 1	BACKGROUND & NEEDS STATEMENTS
	DRAFT	June 2023

THE FEASIBILITY OF FIRE DEPARTMENT PARTNERSHIPS

During the past three decades, fire protection in America has undergone a process of remarkable transformation. Change began in the early 1970’s, roughly corresponding with the publication of America Burning by The National Commission on Fire Prevention and Control. Fire departments across the nation began to assume a greater role in the protection of citizens from many more hazards than in the past—quickly expanding from fire suppression to greater emphasis on fire prevention, emergency medical service, ambulance transport, hazardous materials, specialized operations, natural disasters, and (in the recent past) Homeland Security. This was the dawning of the “ALL RISKS” first responder doctrine in the Fire Service in America.

The process of change continues today, although some fire agencies feel that the progress made is not in the spirit of 1973’s America Burning. While many goals of America Burning (and of the Fire Prevention and Control Act of 1974 that followed) have not materialized, the responsibilities, scope of service, and emergency incidents of community fire departments continue to increase. Urban and suburban expansion have reached unprecedented levels across America, yet laws that limit the funding of public services increasingly restrict emergency services in those same communities. Nearly all such tax limit laws trace their roots to California’s Proposition 13, passed by voters in that state in 1978.

Well before the date of America Burning and the California tax revolt, private sector businesses recognized the benefit of merger and collaboration as a means to increase efficiency. For years, critics have advised the government to reinvent itself and to administer programs more like a business. An increasing number of executive fire officials and policymakers now recognize the moral imperative to maximize the efficiency and effectiveness of emergency service resources through a process of strategic cooperation.

Consequently, what was once relatively uncommon in the fire protection industry has become more widespread as fire department leaders react to internal forces promoting maximization of resources and the external drivers (i.e., expanding scope of service, increased populations, rapid community development, and limited capital).

More and more, local fire agencies partner with other jurisdictions to eliminate service duplication and to focus resources on providing essential services. Such strategic alliances between fire protection agencies began in areas experiencing rapid economic development, primarily surrounding burgeoning West Coast cities like Los Angeles, San Diego, Denver, Seattle, Salt Lake

City, and Portland. Now, as the economic development that so characterized large metropolitan centers during the last two decades spreads and external forces act to limit the ability of the once isolated surrounding communities to unilaterally react to the change; the strategic partnership of emergency service organizations becomes an alternative more frequently considered by policymakers.

There are over 350 fire protection districts and regional fire authorities and 270 cities and towns in the State of Washington today. In the past ten years, the State of Washington has experienced:

- A remarkable increase in the number of cooperative efforts, consolidations, and fire protection district mergers.
- An increase in the number of cities and fire protection districts developing and improving cooperative services, consolidations and/or mergers and inter-local contractual agreements for emergency services. Examples are: City of Sumner and East Pierce Fire & Rescue; Cities of Auburn, Algona, and Pacific; and Lewis County Fire Protection District #12 and the City of Centralia; Clark County 11, 12 and the City of Woodland.
- A consistent pace of cities that have annexed into fire protection districts such as City of Battleground into Clark County Fire District 3.
- Legislative authorization to form Regional Fire Protection Services Authorities (RFA's).

Many factors have led to the increase in these cooperative agreements, mergers, or annexations. These factors include:

- Recent committee studies and state legislation encouraging or providing incentives for cooperative services.
- State and federal grant criteria requires or allows for higher scoring for entities with cooperative or consolidated services.
- Tax limitation initiatives and referendums have reduced the revenue available to many counties, cities, towns, and special purpose districts, thereby increasing the need to consolidate activities to achieve efficiencies and reduce operating costs.
- The cost of emergency operations; the cost of purchasing emergency apparatus and equipment; the cost of constructing fire station facilities; and the cost of fire suppression equipment, emergency medical and rescue equipment, and clothing have significantly increased.

It was in a climate of ongoing regional change and continued challenges to a sustainable level of service in the current governance model (Interlocal Agreement --ILA) that the Klickitat Fire District #3 and the City of White Salmon City Council selected, commissioned and facilitated the West Klickitat Community Task Force with the sole mission of reviewing and analyzing the respective fire departments data, history, strengths, short-falls and gaps in service to the community. The resultant conclusions, findings and recommendations of the West Klickitat Task Force were memorialized in a Task Force Final Report (included in part as Appendix A). Based on this background, the findings and recommendations of the Task Force identified as the primary and pivotal recommendation for achieving a sustainable level of service to be regionalizing emergency services by forming a Regional Fire Authority.

Based on this background the Task Force has identified the following conclusions for the formation of the West Klickitat Regional Fire Authority:

1. The ability to respond to emergency situations by the respective fire agencies for fire protection, rescue and emergency medical services has not kept up or progressed with the community's needs; community changes and growth; cultural shifts; increased demands and diversity for emergency services and special service demands.
2. Providing a fire protection, rescue and emergency medical service system requires a collaborative partnership and responsibility among local and regional governments and the private sector. Vital elements of that collaborative effort must be a focus on levels of service and a dedicated and sustainable funding mechanism to meet those demands and standards.
3. There are efficiencies to be gained by regional fire protection, rescue, and emergency medical service delivery, while maintaining the balance of local control between the City of White Salmon and Klickitat County Fire Protection District #3.
4. Timely development of significant projects can best be achieved through enhanced funding options for regional fire protection, emergency services, specialized rescue, hazardous material mitigation, using already existing taxing authority to address fire protection and emergency service needs, with new authority to address critical fire protection projects and emergency services.
5. The City of White Salmon and Klickitat County Fire Protection District #3 have had a cooperative partnership, striving to provide the highest level of fire and emergency services to our citizens within the confines of available resources, the creation of an RFA will continue this partnership on a permanent basis with a stable governance and financial system.

REGIONAL FIRE AUTHORITY PLAN

City of White Salmon and Klickitat
County Fire District #3

Winter 2022/23

Report to the West Klickitat County Fire District 3 Fire Commissioners and White Salmon City Council

FINAL DRAFT February 20, 2023

I. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

A. COMMUNITY TASK FORCE OVERVIEW

First, to the volunteer firefighters of the White Salmon Fire Department and Klickitat County Fire District 3:

Being part of this task force has given us a deeper appreciation for how essential your commitment and service is and has been to the safety and well-being of our communities.

Please accept our ongoing and heartfelt thanks.

BACKGROUND

Many cities and fire districts are seeking strategies for more efficient and effective emergency service delivery models. Communities continue to grow and create an increasing diversity of demands to be addressed by emergency services. Changes in demographics, wildfire risk, increased recreational activities and other emergency service demands are challenging the current methods and models that Volunteer Fire Departments have utilized for decades.

The Elected representatives of the City of White Salmon and Klickitat County Fire District 3, along with fire department leadership, have recognized these challenges. In mid-2022, they jointly developed and approved a Fire Action Plan focused on improving the current level of emergency services in the region and beginning a discussion about the potential benefits of delivering emergency services through a regional model. They hired mHc Associates, a Washington State Emergency Services Consulting firm, to assist them with convening and facilitating a citizen task force with members from both the city and the district. The volunteer West Klickitat Fire Districts Task Force met between October 2022 - February 2023 to understand the challenges and opportunities for improved emergency services in the greater White Salmon region, and to provide independent research, analysis, and recommendations on improving regional emergency capabilities and services. This effort builds on the recommendations of a Klickitat County Fire District 3 citizen task force convened in 2013.

The fundamental questions the City and Fire District asked the Task Force to address were:

1. Are the current levels of services being provided meeting community expectations?
2. Are there advantages to addressing current emergency service needs on a regional basis for the greater White Salmon community?

What follows are the Task Force's responses to these two questions.

B. FINDINGS

QUESTION 1:

Are the current levels of services being provided meeting community expectations?

The Task Force has concluded that the current levels of preparedness and services are not sufficient to meet current expectations and future community needs.

Background:

The Chief Fire Officers in both Fire District 3 (KCFD3) and White Salmon (WSFD) are professionals, either full or part-time, and there is part-time professional administrative support for each organization.¹ All other needs in both the fire district and department are served by volunteers from the community, as in most small towns and rural areas. Our community is fortunate to have fellow citizens volunteering their time to train and assist in times of distress and emergency.

Effective response to an emergency event is based on the number of responders and the training of those responding. The training and number relate directly to the safety of the community and the volunteers. At current levels of volunteers, there are not enough people to show up to each emergency, and the loss of only a few volunteers would significantly affect response safety and effectiveness. Neither participating entity has adopted training standards for any position, nor training attendance requirements for safe and effective participation in emergency events. Current training levels for volunteers do not meet state requirements and are not sufficient to provide consistently safe responses for our volunteers or to the many different kinds of emergencies that can occur in our community.

Following are findings identified by the task force:

- A. Volunteer Recruitment, Training and Retention – There are currently not enough well-trained volunteers in the KCFD3 and WSFD to ensure adequate emergency response. Training is what turns our volunteer emergency service responders from altruistic, well-meaning individuals into an effective emergency response team. This will require a staffing commitment to a dedicated, skilled, proactive, and consistent recruiting and training program. We believe this training program should be organized based on volunteers' ease of participation and structured to promote certifications and state standards.

¹ Fire District 3 has a full-time professional Fire Chief, and two half-time office staff. The White Salmon Fire District has a part-time professional Fire Chief and relies on the City for administrative services.

- B. Leadership – Currently both departments see strong leadership in the Chief Officer position. There is leadership within the volunteer staff, but it is limited by the need to recruit, train, and retain volunteers to fill those middle leadership positions over the long-term. Volunteer leadership is a critical component to group and individual training as well as mentorship. Training should focus on the development of volunteer leaders with certification benchmarks and training requirements.

- C. Threats - The fire threat in the community has increased exponentially. With a rising population, residential growth into wild land areas, and longer, more severe fire seasons we're on the precipice of a real problem. Over 70% of all fires occurring in the United States are "human caused"². Rural emergency response is statistically the most hazardous to responders. The threats go beyond preventing and fighting fires. The majority of emergency calls are medical in nature. With an aging population, these calls will increase in the future. For all of these threats, our responders need to have the tools, training and an "effective response force" to be safe and return to their families at the end of the day.

- D. Data & Reporting to Track Performance and Continuously Improve - Washington law requires every rural fire district to have a written policy with service delivery goals, including response times, and strive to meet their performance goals at least 80% of the time. They are also required to report annually on their performance.³ Currently neither fire department has fully addressed these requirements. A well-run organization can document its performance with data, which would allow accountability to the community and inform ongoing improvement in fire and emergency response. Currently, neither WSFD or KCFD3 appears to track performance data in a form that meaningfully enables an assessment of performance.

- E. Community Education & Engagement - It is recognized that this is a rural community with all the challenges that presents for our first responders. Training and participating in community-wide hazard prevention programs and enabling the community to better help themselves is an essential part of creating a community that is strong, connected, and resilient.

² National Fire Protection Association

³ RCW 52.33.030 and 52.33.040

- F. Improving Coordination & Coverage with Emergency Medical Services (EMS) – There appear to be significant gaps in the county-wide EMS system coverage, with times in which there is no ambulance available to respond to emergencies in the West Klickitat County area. There appears to be little to no communication or coordination with WSFD or KCFD3 when this occurs. The Klickitat County EMS system had over 6 days with no EMS units available in our community in 2022. Better coordination between the fire district, department and county EMS services is essential to provide coverage when an ambulance is needed.

QUESTION 2:

Are there advantages to addressing current emergency services on a regional basis for the greater WS community?

Yes, the broader community of White Salmon and Klickitat Fire District 3 would benefit from approaching emergency services through a regional approach.

Background:

Currently, Klickitat Fire District 3 and the White Salmon and Bingen fire departments all serve the same regional community, but each have their own fire chief, facilities, equipment, volunteers, administration, and programs. They are funded separately. But, by agreement, they each respond to the same emergencies for mutual aid. In the past, they have coordinated and collaborated on training and equipment, but inconsistently. While they serve the same community, there is a lack of system-wide coordinated planning, volunteer recruitment and training, equipment purchases and administration. This leads to a duplication of efforts and investments, and a missed opportunity to respond to emergencies most effectively and efficiently.

Between the fire district and department, there are different funding sources and structures, leading to inconsistent fire and emergency response funding for the region. This makes it difficult to plan for the future, and offer the most consistent, effective response. The White Salmon Fire Department is funded through the annual city budget from its General Fund in varying annual amounts. Klickitat Fire District 3 covers a large area outside of and surrounding the city limits and is funded through a levy included in property taxes. This provides a consistent annual budget, but one that is unable to keep up with inflation due to a 1% limit on annual increases. We believe a single, regional fire district (called a Regional Fire Authority)⁴ with unified leadership, training and recruiting programs, volunteers, facilities and equipment would better serve our community by providing the most coordinated planning and response and eliminating redundancies. This would also enable consistent, reliable funding through a single funding source for the region through property taxes.

Following are findings identified by the task force that can be met through a regional approach:

- A. Consistent Funding for Regional Fire & Emergency Response - Funding approaches are fundamentally different between the White Salmon Fire Department and Klickitat Fire District 3. A Regional Fire Authority would provide consistent annual funding needed to set up and establish a rigorous long-term budget to include the programs essential to running an effective community-focused Volunteer Fire District for the region.
- B. Knowledgeable, Accountable Fire Commission Leadership - Currently, the White Salmon City Council oversees the White Salmon Fire Department, while the Klickitat Fire District 3 Commission oversees its operations. A city council has many competing areas of focus, and, understandably, does not necessarily have expertise in fire and emergency services. A Regional Fire Authority (RFA) is governed by an elected commission, which is focused only on providing excellent fire and emergency services for the community and is accountable to the voters for achieving that goal.
- C. Long-Term Budgeting – Inclusion of essential programs into a yearly and long-term budget, based on reliable, stable annual funding enables a district to build effective long-term programs and plan for the future. Specifically, a stable funding source and long-term budgeting would enable the district to provide more effective resources for volunteer recruitment, a robust training program, leadership development and community education. Additionally, funding for large capital purchases can be included in long-term budgets to limit the risk of operational funding going to capital expenditures.
- D. Eliminate Redundancies and Improve Capabilities – Currently WSFD and KCFD3 have rolling equipment that is redundant and could be converted to equipment that would provide additional capability to the department. Back-up equipment needs can also be simplified, and equipment standards and needs can be applied and sourced across a single RFA.
- E. Simplify Reciprocal Agreements – Between each department there are agreements that outline how chain of command, equipment and leadership is addressed in emergency responses with both departments. These become unnecessary and simplify the complex task of an emergency response by enabling one unified response plan.

C. COMMUNITY TASK FORCE RECOMMENDATIONS

Following are the Task Force's recommendations to improve emergency services for this community. These recommendations include the creation of a Regional Fire Authority to enable more coordinated, effective regional response and avoid duplication of equipment and programs.

- A. Create a Regional Fire Authority under RCW 52.26 - Create a Regional Fire Authority (RFA) serving the current areas of WSFD and KCFD3. This should be a new district to take over the tasks of the two above mentioned jurisdictions. Formation of this RFA should simplify the inclusion of additional neighboring departments in the future, should this become desirable.
- B. Create a Consistent Funding Source for the RFA - Create a stable, consistent funding source for the Regional Fire Authority through a single property tax levy sufficient to meet the needs identified to provide improved fire and emergency services to the community in the future.
- C. Create Annual and Long-Term Budgets to Meet Identified Needs - Create an annual and long-term budget for the new Regional Fire Authority that includes elements to build a strong volunteer department. This should include:
 1. Volunteer Recruitment Program
 2. Volunteer Training Program
 3. Leadership Development Program
 4. Community Education and Engagement Program
 5. Future Equipment and Facility Needs
- D. Recruit, Train and Retain an Excellent Corps of Volunteers – Volunteers are the life blood of rural emergency response. The reasons to volunteer are many and varied, and good recruitment and efforts to support and retain volunteers is essential. To that end we recommend studying implementation of the following efforts.

1. High School education/training “Cadet” program – participants in the full curriculum of the program would graduate with fire certifications in addition to participating with the Fire District. (See Lyle Fire Department program)
 2. Training – Training program focused on volunteer needs and availability. Targeted to advance each volunteers’ interests and additional certifications, and to ensure the skills and emergency response within the RFA meet the needs of the community and volunteer safety.
 3. Leadership – Advanced training and leadership requirements and opportunities for those interested. Should include tuition and travel.
 4. Compensation – Volunteer compensation needs to be consistent with the effort and expenses of volunteers.
 5. Community Engagement – Starts and stops with the volunteers. Publicly visible, inviting, knowledgeable, and educated community engagement improves local emergency prevention and response.
- E. Create Performance Goals, Publicly Track Data & Report Annually – Create performance goals, and a system to meaningfully track, measure and document emergency response in the RFA. Annually report on performance transparently and publicly with a plan for continuous improvement. In addition, an effort should be made to align the reporting standards amongst other coordinated agencies such as Klickitat EMS, Bingen Fire & Lyle Fire for a more complete view of all emergency services rendered.
- F. Coordination & Coverage with Emergency Medical Services (EMS) – Given the significant gaps in the county-wide EMS system coverage, the RFA should negotiate a reciprocal agreement with the county to coordinate EMS resources and dispatch for improved coverage. It should also consider how to best provide its own ambulance service, given that Fire District 3 has an underused ambulance in its fleet.
- G. Offset White Salmon Resident Property Taxes - When a new Regional Fire Authority is created, the City funding that has been provided for the White Salmon Fire Department in the past will no longer be spent on the fire department. However, City residents will have a new line item in their property taxes to pay for the Regional Fire Authority. Therefore, we recommend that the City of White Salmon reduce resident property taxes for the City by at least half to partially offset the increase in resident property taxes to pay for the new Regional Fire Authority.

H. Provide Community Education and Engagement – The Regional Fire Authority should be responsible for taking the lead on education and engagement with the community on several fronts.

1. Wildfire risks and prevention
2. Emergency response expectations
3. CPR/First aid
